Fores to See the Church.

New York, Oct. 13.—United States District Attorney Walker decided today that the case of the Rev. E. W. Warren, recently called from England to the rectory of the Church of the Holy Trinity, comes under the contract labor law, and that he will be forced to commence suit against the ministry and wardens of the church.

The history of this case is in brief as follows: Some months ago a Scotch farmer named Cummings came to this country under contract and was refused permission to land, on the ground that it would be a violation of the law against the importation of persons under contract to perform labor or service in this country. Mr. J. S. Kennedy, president of the St. Andrew society of this city, endeavored vainly to get permission for Cummings to land, and the farmer was sent back to Scotland. When it became known that Rev. Mr. Warren was coming to this country under contract to fill the pastorate of Trinity church, Mr. Kennedy notified the board of trustees of the fact and demanded that he be not allowed to land. The protest was not heeded and the preacher landed. Then Mr. Kennedy appealed to the secretary of the treasury, who replied that the matter had passed beyond his jurisdiction which only went to the extent of preventing landing, but that if the law had been violated it was the duty of the United States district attorney to begin an action against Rev. Mr. Warren's employers and against the captain of the ship which brought him here, to recover the penalty of $100 for violation of the laws. Mr. Kennedy thereupon appealed to the district attorney, who, this afternoon made known his decision as above. He says it is plain that the law does not refer merely to manual labor only for it expressly exempts professional actors, artists, lecturers and singers and the Rev. Warren is neither of these, he falls plainly within the law. The district attorney intimates a rather poor opinion of the law, but declares it is his duty to enforce it. Mr. Kennedy says he has no feeling either against Rev. Warren or Trinity church, but that he proposes merely to make a test case in order to bring an obnoxious law into disrepute, and he writes to the clerk of Trinity parish saying that in case the church is made the defendant, he (Kennedy) will make the amount good to it.

Still at Large.

St. Paul, Oct. 13.—Deputy wardens and penitentiary guards have secured the country today in vain looking for Frank P. Landers, alias Wilbur James, the noted confidence man, who escaped from Stillwater penitentiary last evening. The general opinion seems to be that he had help from the outside, as he has many friends and acquaintances in the northwest. The history of Landers' career reads like a romance; he is a shrewd, clever, and resourceful man, and well educated. He was born in Utah, and a dozen years ago, in Chicago, was engaged in some daring forgeries, for which he was arrested in Sedalia, Mo., and on trial was given a light sentence. Shortly after he served his sentence of four years and six months in the Hartford, Conn. jail for forgery. He also served short sentences at Baltimore and Port Jervis. After that he swindled Philadelphia merchants out of $2,000 by means of bogus checks, and soon after levied upon the San Francisco people for the amount of $13,000. He next appeared in Chicago as Lieutenant Somerville of the navy, and cut a great figure in his gold-branded uniform. He signalled his departure by giving an elegant banquet at the Hotel Richfield to a number of prominent people, and the next day he was arrested. He was then taken to New York, Europe again and New Orleans, where he assumed the character of a New York Herald correspondent, the head of a Shreveport cotton firm, and secured $1,000. Coming to St. Paul, he had considerable social success under the name of Wilbur P. James and finally confided jewelry here out of $50,000 worth of goods. From here he went to Europe and his next exploit was to cheat William Herrick's sons, of Louisville, out of diamonds worth $15,000. After another vacation in Europe he attacked Omaha and went away from there $5,000 richer. After that he went to Boston and bought two suits of clothes after forging a check in payment. For this he was apprehended, was brought to St. Paul and convicted for his misdoings here and found guilty May 10th, 1885, being sentenced to twenty-four years at Stillwater. He was one of the editors of the Prison Mirror, a recently established newspaper, and had conducted himself with so much seeming rectitude that he had been allowed many privileges, by the use of which he finally made his escape.

Knights of Labor.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 13.—The general assembly of the Knights of Labor this morning received a communication from district assembly 208 of England, asking that a man be selected from among the English Knights to act in case of disputes between employer and employee. It was asked that this official assume the functions of the general officers when the circumstances make it impossible to place before them the true facts in the case. The communication from the Canadian Knights requesting the appointment of a legislative committee of three for Canada was referred to the committee on legislation. A communication was received from the Philadelphia longshoremen complaining of the violation of the foreign contract labor law and requesting that the order sustain the Philadelphia assembly in their action in the matter. The eight-hour question in the cigar trade was brought up. The sentiment of the convention was that, as eight hours is the rule of the international regulation it would not be right for members of the Knights of Labor employed in this trade to work longer hours and give a bucket to the good work in this direction already accomplished. It was decided not to issue the label to those who work longer hours. After the afternoon session the press committee reported that there was nothing to divulge to the public. The delegates are very quiet about the afternoon proceedings, and nothing authoritative has been stated. It is stated that the convention yesterday afternoon voted to continue the boycott on the New York Sun.

A Princely Offer.

PORT WORTH, TEX., Oct. 13.—The veteran stockman of north Texas, Col. Thos. Wagner, of Decatur, the owner of about 65,000 head of cattle and 200,000 acres of land situated in Willbarger and Wichita counties, who is very anxious to have the Rock Island railroad pass through Harold, has offered to give the company the right of way through the county, a town site on the Red river of 640 acres and $25,000 cash.

Yacht Probably Lost.

St. Paul, Oct. 13.—A Winnipeg special says: The yacht Nettle, which left Jarvis Island, Lake Superior, for Port Arthur last Thursday, was undoubtedly lost in the storm which followed it. The Nettle was found near Mutton Island. She had a crew of six viz: Mr. Murray, of London, England; Mr. Mc Lannan, of Port Arthur; Mr. Fox and son, Port Williams, and two Icelandic sailors.

Broke Prison.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Oct. 13.—Last night just about 12 o'clock, Russell Brown, who, from the atrocity of his crime and his escape from prison, was perhaps one of the most noted prisoners confined in the penitentiary of this state, made good his escape by scaling the wall.

It was a part of the duty assigned Brown to look after and replace the carbons in the electric light about the yard, and last night about 11:30 he and another prisoner made their usual round. When they had finished their work in the stockade yard his companion started to return to the main yard, Russell called to him to wait, saying that he would be in a few minutes. His companion passed over a slight elevation and then waited for him, but he waited in vain, and growing uneasy, he reported the matter to the captain of the night watch.

A search was instituted immediately and the finding of Brown's prison garb in the yard adjoining the warden's residence was the only clue. Russell Brown came to the prison March 31, 1883, under sentence from the St. Louis criminal court for ten years. Early in that year he and a companion, Pat McGlew, entered the premises of Mrs. General Darrin, Russell's grandmother, for the purpose of robbing her of whatever jewels and money she might have about her, and it is supposed that she detected them and they strangled her to cover up their crime. Russell Brown's father, Joseph A. Brown, is a well-to-do and highly respected lawyer of Eureka, St. Louis county, and he is a nephew of the wife of ex-Minister Halderman, of Leavenworth. Pat McGlew, Brown's accomplice, died in the prison January 13, 1886.

It Helped Things.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—H. DeYoung, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle, in an interview with a Journal reporter this evening, in speaking of the effects of the passage of the Interstate commerce bill on the business interests of the Pacific slope said: "The people were, and are still strongly in favor of the Interstate bill. Of course railroads attempted to make it as odious as possible by a heavy increase in freight and passenger charges, but the laws of trade soon regulated that, for the prices they put upon products were so prohibitory and there was no shipping of any kind until the railroads came back to a fair price, and as a natural result of their attempt to increase freights, we received the benefit we expected—the fostering of home manufacture. One of the results of the bill has been to force our merchants into patronizing the manufacturers and our mill, wool mills, glass works and other manufacturing have been running on full time with large contracts ahead."

The Bankers.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 13.—It was nearly 11 o'clock when the convention of the American Bankers association was called by President Murray. There was a noticeable increase in attendance, a large number of delegates having arrived since the close of yesterday's session. After the usual opening exercises the following resolutions were offered and referred to the executive council by Judge Ewing of Pennsylvania:

Resolved, That we favor the rapid extinguishment of the public debt and therefore recommend continued purchase by the secretary of the treasury of outstanding government bonds which we consider a reduction of revenues wholly unnecessary, inexpedient and unwise. Let the surplus be properly and constantly applied to liquidation of the debt and let the action of the treasury in the work of buying bonds be further regulated systematically and controlled by additional legislation.

A Murderous Thief.

FOXED DE LAUC, Wis., Oct. 13.—The city is highly excited over the finding of a shooting travesty which was committed near the limits of the city at an early hour this morning. It seems that an unknown burglar entered the house of Mrs. Wm. Koern. He was discovered and made a criminal assault but was unsuccessful. He struck the woman with a club nearly killing her. Everything indicates that a terrible struggle was made. The assailant escaped. A reward of $3,000 has been offered for his detection. The unfortunate victims are in a critical condition.

Cincinnati G. A. R.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—The G. A. R. Posts of this city have determined to hold their three days celebration for G. A. R. men October 27, 28 and 29. The first will be a reception day, the second Grand Army parade day and the third jubilee day.

Growing Bigger.

STAFFORD SPRINGS, Conn., Oct. 13.—The excitement over the downfall of the Stafford Springs National bank continues to run very high. United States National Bank Examiner Forman says the shortage grows bigger and bigger. The latest investigation, he said, reveals the fact that the deficit is $84,000, but there is no doubt that it is in excess of that amount. Aside from the above, the bank deposits amount to $75,000, in addition to what is recorded in the books in the way of notes, making an aggregate of over $159,000.

Arrested for Libel.

GARDEN CITY, Kans., Oct. 13.—This evening Sheriff J. W. Hixson of Seward county, arrived in the city with Robert E. Hicks, editor and proprietor of the Seward County Courier, published at Springfield, this state, whom he holds on a charge of criminal libel preferred by one H. D. Merritt, county attorney of Seward county. The alleged libel being an article published in last week's Courier concerning the attorney. A writ of habeas corpus was sworn out tonight. Hicks claims he can prove all the said.
